

World Logic Day in Alberta 2021

January 14th, 2021

World logic day in Alberta was organized by Gillman Payette who, at the time, was loosely affiliated with both the University of Calgary and the University of Lethbridge. It was conducted as an online mini conference, consisting of six half-hour talks on January 14, 2021. The talks were well attended with no talk having fewer than 20 people online, and the maximum number in attendance was around 40. There were international attendees, but the only international attendees I was certain were not in Alberta were former Albertans. The website for the event was: <https://sites.google.com/view/world-logic-day-alberta/home?authuser=0>

The schedule for the mini conference was:

11:10am Conference introduction by Gillman Payette

11:15 - 11:45am Doxastic Logic vs. Ideal Rationality: Gillman Payette - University of Calgary

12 - 12:30pm Bertrand Russell's two Lectures on Logic in Beijing, 1921: Bernard Linsky - University of Alberta

12:45 - 1:15pm Laws, Worlds and Consequence: Bryson Brown - University of Lethbridge

1:30 - 2pm Fooling the Victim - Of Strawmen and Those Who Fall for Them: Katharina Stevens - University of Lethbridge

2:15 - 2:45pm A Theorem of Infinity for Principia Mathematica: Landon Elkind - University of Alberta

3 - 3:30pm On Denotating; or, What Part of 'indefinite' did you not Understand?: Kent Peacock - University of Lethbridge